

From the community: Thermobalancing therapy uses man's body energy to reverse BPH

Thermobalancing therapy uses man's body energy to reverse BPH (Posted by Kathy Colace, Community Contributor)

By Community Contributor Kathy Colace

NOVEMBER 28, 2018, 2:43 AM

<https://www.chicagotribune.com/suburbs/arlington-heights/community/chi-ugc-article-thermobalancing-therapy-uses-mans-body-energ-2018-11-28-story.html>

For the first time, it has been proven that the human body energy can treat chronic non-malignant prostate disease such as an enlarged prostate or benign prostatic hyperplasia (BPH) with the help of Thermobalancing therapy patented in the United States.

The standard treatments for BPH are ineffective. The medical therapy consists of different drugs, which do not treat a prostate gland but try to relieve the symptoms. Each of these medications has serious side effects. Furthermore, they become ineffective gradually, and men look for a surgical procedure to remove a prostate or a part of it.

Thermobalancing therapy enabled by Dr Allen's therapeutic device applies a natural thermoelement tightly to the body in the projection of a prostate gland. This thermoelement accumulates body heat and becomes a source of energy. This safe energy gradually terminates prostate enlarging and even reduces the size of enlarged prostate.

Conventional treatments for BPH and their side effects

Despite the fact that BPH is not life-threatening problems, high-risk long-term medications are widely used for a prostate enlargement treatment. Some BPH drugs are important for acute problems caused by enlarged prostate but they are prescribed to men for years.

These prostate medications develop side effects and, moreover, can be responsible for new health problems. At the same time, the daily use of these dangerous drugs is very expensive, both for people and for the entire health system.

The most commonly used drugs for BPH are alpha blockers, which make people feel very tired, cause sexual dysfunction, headache and dizziness; and the other pills are 5 alpha reductase inhibitors, such as finasteride, Avodart, which are responsible for irreversible side effects: impotence, depression, pain in the testicles, and even diabetes.

A BPH surgery is used to remove or destroy prostate tissue. This procedure has many nasty and life-long complications and should only be accepted as the treatment of last resort, for instance.

The device is a unique tool that accumulates the body heat for treatment purpose

Dr Allen's device for prostate treatment consists of a thermo-element and a garment that applies this thermoelement to the body. The thermoelement is made on a base of a special mixture of waxes. It accumulates the naturally emitted body heat and becomes a source of energy itself.

There are some important features that make this treatment method unique:

- the temperature of the therapy must not exceed the body temperature;
- the device applies the thermo-element tightly to the skin in the projection of the affected organ;

- the therapy must be used continuously for a prolonged period of time.

Thermobalancing therapy® and Dr Allen's Device have been patented in the US as "Therapeutic device and method". The patent is an acknowledgement that it is indeed a completely new treatment option for chronic non-malignant diseases.

Thermobalancing therapy breakthrough innovation for millions of men

Dr Allen's device is a class 1 medical device, which does not require the involvement of a notified body as it cannot harm. So, everyone can use it at home without worrying about side effects. Fine Treatment delivers the device using Royal Mail tracking service.

Discussion of the uniqueness of Thermobalancing therapy with Dr Allen's Device can be found in the article, Innovative Thermobalancing therapy can help millions of men with enlarged prostate gland to improve the quality of life and well-being throughout the world, published in World Scientific News.

And it is true that millions of sufferers from enlarged prostate, as nearly 1 in 4 men will suffer from BPH over their lifetime, and 1 in 3 men over the age of 50 has urinary symptoms, such as frequent or urgent needs to urinate or to wake at night one or more times to urinate, etc.

The 10-year empirical data and a clinical trial confirmed effectiveness of this therapy. According to the trial the prostate volume reduced significantly toward its normal size and the urinary symptoms in men with enlarged prostate decreased on about 70%, after 6 months using the device.

Dr Allen's Device is a cost-effective solution for BPH treatment as with the price less than $ 200 compares favourably to all others treatment options for prostate enlargement. At the same time, annual costs related to BPH medical treatments can reach $ 2.000, and surgical interventions can cost $ 10.000 and more.

The efficacy and safety of Thermobalancing therapy with Dr Allen's Device allows it to be prescribed by primary health care specialists, and people themselves can use the device to improve their well-being and quality of life.

This item was posted by a community contributor. To read more about community contributors, click here.

