Thermobalancing therapy and Dr Allen's device patented by USPTO stops prostate enlargement and even reverses benign prostatic hyperplasia (BPH). This therapy is the first treatment ever, which uses the body's own energy to treat a chronic disease.

Standard prostate enlargement treatments are ineffective. Medical therapy consists of various BPH drugs that do not cure the prostate but are aimed at relieving symptoms. Each of these drugs has serious side effects. In addition, they gradually become ineffective, and men are looking for a surgical procedure to remove the prostate gland or part of it.

Dr Allen's therapeutic device applies a natural thermoelement tightly to the body in the projection of enlarged prostate, which accumulates body heat and becomes a source of energy. Indeed, this safe energy gradually stops the process of enlarging the prostate.

Medical and surgical treatments for BPH are risky

Prostate enlargement is a non-life-threatening problem; however, high-risk long-term medications are widely used for their treatment. Medications, which may help to get the acute symptoms relief are prescribed to men for years.

Prostate medications have side effects and often are responsible for developing new health problems. Medical intervention in men with enlarged prostate uses 2 types of medications.

Firstly, alpha blockers, which relax the muscle of the prostate and bladder neck that allows urine to flow more easily, Tamsulosin, terazosin, etc. These drugs can be responsible for tiredness, sexual dysfunction, headache and dizziness.

Secondly, hormonal drugs - 5 alpha reductase inhibitors: finasteride, Avodart responsible for irreversible side effects: impotence, depression, testicle pain, and even diabetes.

Therefore, all medications to treat prostate enlargement should be prescribed carefully and as a short-term treatment. Furthermore, the daily use of these dangerous drugs is very expensive, both for people and for the entire health system.

BPH surgeries differ, some of them remove and another destroy the prostate tissue. All these procedures have nasty complications. For instance, about 25% of patients after minimal invasive surgery may suffer from depression. Therefore, any operation must be accepted only as a treatment of last resort.

A unique device stops prostate enlargement using your energy

Dr Allen's device is non-invasive, safe and cost-effective. The device for prostate treatment consists of a thermo-element and a belt that applies this thermoelement to the coccyx area of the body. The thermoelement is natural. It is made on a base of a special mixture of waxes.

There are some important features of this treatment method:

- the temperature of the therapy must not exceed the body temperature;
- the device applies the thermo-element tightly to the skin in the projection of the affected organ;
- the therapy must be used continuously for a prolonged period of time.

The thermoelement accumulates the naturally emitted body heat and becomes a source of energy itself. This energy improves blood circulation in the prostate, stopping its enlargement.

Man's body energy reverses BPH improving his quality of life

The outcomes of clinical investigation on Thermobalancing therapy in men with BPH were published in leading peer-reviewed medical journals. The efficacy of Thermobalancing therapy in reducing urinary symptoms and the size of enlarged prostate was discussed by medical professionals at the different health conferences worldwide: in United Kingdom, Spain, China, Italy and other countries.

In contrast to all other treatments, the cost of Dr Allen's

Device is under USD 200. For most men, this is a one-time purchase, since the device works for at least a year. Fine Treatment, <http://finetreatment.com>, is an international distributor of wearable therapeutic Dr Allen's Device for Prostate Treatment and delivers it worldwide. The price of delivery is included in the total price of the device.

Dr Allen's Device is a class 1 medical device, so it does not require the involvement of a notified body. Every man can use it at home without worrying, as this treatment option causes no side effects.

The more detailed explanation of how Thermobalancing therapy with Dr Allen's device uses energy can be found in various scientific articles, for example, "Innovative Thermobalancing therapy can help millions of men with enlarged prostate gland to improve the quality of life and well-being throughout the world," published in the World Scientific News.

Thus, any man diagnosed with BPH can easily use his own body energy to improve his quality of life with the help of Dr Allen's device.
